Tim Goodrich served in the active duty military, including three deployments to the Middle East. After seeing lives shattered by war in third world countries, he resolved to not take life for granted and be an active contributor in his community. Upon his honorable discharge, Tim continued his educational pursuits, earning his Masters in Public Administration and a Certificate in Political Management from the University of Southern California.

Tim is active in the community, volunteering with the Police and Fire Departments and serving as a Board Member with the Torrance Education Foundation, Torrance Sister City Association, and his Homeowner's Association. He also founded a neighborhood watch, graduated from the Partners in Policing program, and serves as a member of the Torrance School Bond Oversight Committee. Tim works for a professional employee's association where he does contract administration and public relations. He is married to his wife, Meav, and has a dog named Mira.
